

PRESS RELEASE 6th AUGUST 2021 - immediate

UK-Based Plutus Consulting acquires ‘fledgling’ diagnostic brand to complement its data analytical service offering

Plutus Consulting has acquired Summit Diagnostics, a fledgling brand set for exponential growth!

It will bring to market a data diagnostic capability and solution which complements Plutus’s diagnostic portfolio - providing support to clients with business data and technology challenges in the financial services industry.

Headquartered in London, England and with offices in Luxembourg, Plutus Consulting is a well-established financial and business services consulting, advisory and professional services group, that is building a diagnostic framework using revolutionary, innovative AI powered solutions.

I am fortunate enough to have been able to acquire this brand, technology and innovation for Plutus which is part of our strategy to innovate and transform our client-focused service delivery model.

Together with our well-established expertise and technical support in areas critical to our customer’s business operations, this opportunity provides a rapid collaborative and cost-efficient solution to tackle diagnostic challenges within the Financial Services sector,” said John Martin, CEO of Plutus Consulting.

The first use case that this solution will be used is to provide cost effective data analysis and diagnostic services focused around the ESG sector, thus assisting clients with their ESG transition and analytical requirements’

‘Building strong and collaborative long-term relationships is key to our success, and I am fortunate to have been able to incorporate Summit into our product and advisory portfolio,’ said John.

---

About Plutus Consulting Group

Plutus Consulting Group is a well-established financial & business services firm, consulting, advisory and professional services group. We have a 30-year track record in delivering mergers and acquisitions deals, regulation and compliance programmes and sustainable / ESG investment portfolios. Our core mantra and strategy are to deliver effective and tangible results in an ever more complex and challenging world.

Putting it simply...

We listen, we learn, we lead...

For further insight and information, please contact John on +44 (0) 7773 774 917 or email

john@plutusconsgroup.com